Foreword

Dear Parents/Carers,

We are delighted to launch our new newsletter this week. We feel that we would like to share some of the exciting activities and achievements of our wonderful pupils. Communication is really important so we hope that this newsletter is one way that you can feel more informed.

If you have not done so already, you can look at the class pages on the website to find out about the teachers working with your children:

<http://www.fulfen.staffs.sch.uk/classes>

We also regularly post on twitter, so why don't you give us a follow?

@Fulfen Primary

On twitter, you can now get a flavour for what's going on each week in school. The latest tweets are also on the right-hand side of our website pages.

We can also share with you what the school is working on so that you can support us and work with us to achieve our goals.

Due to COVID 19, we continue to work under challenging circumstances but your support has been amazing so thank you for your continued understanding.

Feature

This week is anti-bullying week. The theme this year is 'one kind word'. It's really important that children know and understand what bullying is (not a fall out or not liking someone). Mrs Derry met with the School council last week and they wanted to mark anti – bullying week by wearing odd socks to school on Monday. Mrs Derry has organised some special assemblies to launch the week and has also planned for the children to make a poster on what bullying is and how to be assertive. Mrs Derry will choose a winning poster from each class to laminate and place around school. This links in to our peer-on-peer abuse policy. Mrs Derry shared this policy as a child friendly version with the Y5/6 pupil reps.

Mrs Ashcroft also came up with a great idea about completing kind words on postcards, which we can share around the school and between classes.

Last week, the pupils commemorated Remembrance Day by special assemblies, sewing felt poppies and using pastels to draw poppies for a special display. We are so proud of all of the children's art work. Look at the amazing artwork and displays.
